The drive through bank you have described below is not considered a full service bank for obtaining points. A full service bank would be expected to offer a variety of services to its customers; i.e. the ability to apply for and open a checking, savings, money management, credit card accounts; meet with customer service representative to discuss banking issues related to their existing accounts; meet with customer service representatives to apply for and acquire car or home loans, lines of credit, business and person loans; get assistance with account reconciliations, etc.

Laura,

Under Positive Site Characteristics, the QAP states that "Full Service Banks or Credit Unions" will qualify for points under Positive Site Characteristics and further states that "free standing ATMs alone do not qualify."

I have a bank that is a "drive thru" bank. The bank is staffed with a teller (an actual person) in the window from 9:00AM-5:00PM Monday through Thursday and from 9:00AM through 6:00PM on Friday.

Given that this isn't a stand alone ATM and is staffed with an actual person, I believe this qualifies for points in this category, but I wanted to confirm with you.

Thanks

Josh
