Think of an agency that does all this with no state tax funding

Each year SC State Housing continues to fulfill and even expand its mission to create quality affordable housing opportunities for the citizens of South Carolina.

SC State Housing is self-sustaining and receives no state appropriation.

We are proud that we have been able to serve our State for four decades and we are committed to our mission.

*NOTES
This report was compiled in cooperation with the Division of Research at the University of South Carolina’s Moore School of Business.

FY2010 denotes the 2010 fiscal year, which runs from July 1, 2009 to June 30, 2010.

In this report, “total investment” refers to the direct economic output from SC State Housing expenditures in FY2010. “Total economic output” refers to the direct, indirect, and induced economic output from SC Housing expenditures in FY2010. Thus, total economic output encompasses all multiplier effects and reflects the final demand for the goods and services produced.
What do you think of when you think of Affordable Housing?

Think of economic development
$413 million in total economic output
The South Carolina State Housing Finance and Development Authority (SC State Housing) is a major part of the housing industry and in FY2010, invested more than $261 million in affordable housing initiatives across our state. These initiatives created from the construction, revitalization and rental of housing give South Carolina an advantage in attracting investments both directly and indirectly. The creation of additional housing investments also provides work for thousands of individuals and families in our state.

While providing affordable housing for our citizens, our investments also provide work for thousands of individuals either directly or indirectly. The creation of additional housing gives South Carolina an advantage in attracting investments and creating jobs. Whether they are carpenters, electricians, real estate agents or other professionals – additional jobs are created as a result of the growth in the rental needs of the people of South Carolina in the private rental sector.

Think of tax revenues
$29,747,716 in state and local tax revenues
A growing population of gainfully employed citizens expands state and local tax bases. In FY2010, almost $30 million in state and local taxes were generated by SC State Housing. These tax revenues provide for additional programs, schools and public safety, all of which are crucial to a successful and interactive community.

Think of safe, stable, growing communities
$118 million toward affordable rental housing
For nearly 40 years, SC State Housing has been a constant, reliable source of affordable, affordable mortgage and rental housing for home buyers. Fixed-rate mortgages, down payment assistance and careful underwriting result in stable, affordable mortgages for the long term.

As more people seek affordable rental housing, SC State Housing works diligently to promote affordable rental development and preserve the quality of existing rental housing. We monitor 24,000 low income housing tax credit apartments and spaces.

Additionally, stable, affordable rental housing allows people to exercise greater responsibility and control over their living environment. It strengthens neighborhoods and creates incentives for maintaining and improving property and public spaces.

As more people seek affordable rental housing, SC State Housing works diligently to promote affordable rental development and preserve the quality of existing rental housing. In August, teachers and first responders were joined by administrative personnel, including police, fire, and local government officers – including dispatchers, and corrections officers and nurses.

In FY2010, SC State Housing produced:
- 3,788 homes and apartments
  - $30 million of local and state tax revenues
  - $413 million in total economic output
- 3,478 total jobs
- More than $143 million invested in affordable housing rental and homeownership
- More than $118 million in assistance funding

Think of jobs
3,478 total jobs created in FY2010
2,162 direct jobs, 3,135 indirect jobs
While providing affordable housing for our citizens, our investments also provide work for thousands of individuals either directly or indirectly. The creation of additional housing gives South Carolina an advantage in attracting investments and creating jobs. Whether they are carpenters, electricians, real estate agents or other professionals – additional jobs are created as the need for housing increases. In FY2010, 3,478 jobs were created from the construction, revitalization and rental of housing units due to funding from SC State Housing program areas. Affordable workforce housing is a key factor for companies considering locating or expanding their businesses.

Think of flexibility to meet emerging needs and responsibilities
$295,431,200 will mitigate foreclosure for responsible borrowers in SC

In March the Obama Administration announced that South Carolina would receive $138 million as its share of an initiative to help families stay in their homes or otherwise avoid foreclosure in states that have been hit hard by concentrated economic distress. The program, known as the Housing Finance Agency Innovation Fund for the Hardest Hit Housing Markets (or “HFA Hardest Hit Fund”), makes money available to five states with high concentrations of people living in economically distressed areas, defined as counties in which the unemployment rate exceeded 12 percent in 2009. Additional funding followed with $58 million in August and $98 million in September. This funding will help responsible borrowers who have fallen behind on their home payments due to unemployment, or other unforeseen circumstances. The program, known as the South Carolina Homeownership & Employment Lending Program (SC HELP), hopes to eventually assist between 20,000 and 33,000 homeowners.

Think of safety to our economic recovery. An adequate and balanced environment. It strengthens neighborhoods and creates opportunities for all sectors of our economy. Affordable housing rental and homeownership give South Carolina an advantage in attracting investments both directly and indirectly. The creation of additional housing investments also provides work for thousands of individuals and families in our state.
